Monsters Next Door: The Rwandan Genocide Remembered

Between April 7th and July 15th 1994 an estimated 1,000,000 people were murdered in the Rwandan genocide while the rest of the world stood silent. The majority Hutu government sanctioned a genocide of its Tutsi and Twa minorities as well as moderate Hutus. The genocide was particularly horrific as neighbor turned against neighbor with machetes as the weapon of choice. The presenter was in Rwanda during its Civil War two years prior to the genocide and will recount his own harrowing experiences there.

The Saving of Tiffany

In 1957, the 84-room mansion of Louis Comfort Tiffany burned to the ground. This is the story of Laurelton Hall, the Art Nouveau country estate finished in 1905 with conservatories, stables, and sixty acres of carefully planned gardens overlooking the Long Island Sound. This grand estate housed the extensive collection of Tiffany’s most personal and prized art, created at the Tiffany Studios of New York. Hundreds of objects were saved, including Tiffany's rarest and most prized creations. Statuary, windows, furnishings, mosaics, glass, pottery, and ornamental work were bought by Hugh and Jeannette McKean and became the most important part of The Charles Hosmer Morse Museum of American Art, located in Winter Park, FL. The splendor of Laurelton Hall is visited through rare photos of the estate and mansion, including the exceptional works of art that survived.

Johnny Cash

Johnny Cash received worldwide fame for being America’s beloved musician and outlaw. With his deep, baritone voice and songs of genuine folkloric poetry, he inspired a new style of music. Cash’s music intertwined country, rock and roll, rockabilly, blues, gospel, and folk music, inspiring future musicians for years to come. Born as John (J.R.) Cash to a poor cotton-farming family in Arkansas, he would strive for a deeper meaning in his music throughout his life, bringing to light the injustices, pain, and strife in the world. He received his trademarked nickname, “The Man in Black,” due to his somber attire of all black during his concerts. Historical Presenter, Michelle Gibbons, will take you into the life, love, struggles and stardom of Johnny Cash. She’ll discuss Cash’s famous albums and songs, including: “Folsom Prison Blues;” “I Walk the Line;” “Ring of Fire;” “Get Rhythm;” “Man in Black;” and more. She’ll also discuss Cash’s unconditional love for his wife, June Carter, and how their romantic undying love for each other and inspired the 2005 movie, Walk the Line.

Thomas Paine

The Voice of the American Revolution America's first best-selling author tells his story of rising from working class roots to the pinnacle of world fame. His pamphlet “Common Sense” inspired the people to support independence. His words “These are the times that try men’s souls” inspired Washington's army to continue the fight. Paine dramatically describes the pivotal Battle of Trenton where George Washington, against all odds, defeated the Hessian mercenaries after crossing the Delaware River. Paine speaks of his writings: “Common Sense,” “The Rights of Man,” and the controversial criticism of revealed religion “Age of Reason.” His belief in abolishing monarchy and establishing republican government earned him a British death sentence and French citizenship during their revolution. The first person to use the phrase “the United States of America” Thomas Paine helped create the modern world.

Movie Music Elvis Presley

Elvis Presley was a pioneer of the music industry, similar to what Bing Crosby was in the 1930s and what The Beatles brought to the world in the 1960s. Elvis had all the tools: a distinctive style, good looks, a passion for his craft and an absolutely beautiful voice. And he put them all together like no one else in history. Where do you begin when making a movie music show about Elvis? We decided to place the emphasis on the first half of his 23-year career, which began in 1954. We capture his natural joy of doing what he did better than anyone of his generation, or perhaps any generation: singing from the depth of his soul. You’ll also see that we split the screen between Elvis and his leading ladies. Elvis would have liked that, even if his longtime manager Colonel Tom Parker would not. Enjoy the movie music of Elvis Presley!

Memorials to Freedom: Abraham Lincoln & Frederick Douglass

100 Years ago, the Lincoln Memorial in Washington D.C. was dedicated on May 30, 1922. Then on August 12, just four miles southeast of the Memorial, the home of Frederick Douglas was dedicated as a museum and historic site that same year. In this program, we will look at the difficult path that these Memorials to Freedom took from concept to reality. The Lincoln monument's classical form was controversial at the time, with many prominent critics upset that a more “American” design was not chosen. Restoration of Douglass’ Cedar Hill was stalled for years due to lack of funding. You’ll hear how the legacies of these men were interpreted at the time of the dedications: Douglass remained a revered warrior in the fight for freedom, while Lincoln’s role in ending slavery was downplayed. The Lincoln Memorial includes text of the Gettysburg Address but not the Emancipation Proclamation. We’ll then explore how both men contributed to the advancement of the ideals of the Declaration of Independence that all men are created equal, and how they differed over racial equality. We’ll see how their legacies have been used and abused, and how they both can best be understood by centering them in the context of their times.

Stephen T. Mather: Saving America’s Scenic Wonders
Stephen T. Mather, founding director of the N.P.S., tells the dramatic story of saving the parks from congressional neglect, ruthless loggers and greedy developers. When an illegal sawmill in Glacier Park refused to close down, Mather blew it up with some handy charges of TNT. It all began in 1914 when Mather hiked in the Sequoia and Yosemite Parks witnessing their deplorable condition. He wrote a letter of complaint to Franklin Lane, Secretary of the Interior. Lane wrote back, Steve, if you don’t like the way the national parks are being run, why don’t you come on down to Washington and run them yourself. He did. If an important piece of land or a roadway were in private hands, Mather and his wealthy friends bought it and donated to the park system. At first Congressman Fitzgerald thought Mather must be trying to bribe somebody. Stephen Mather made his millions in the Borax business. An advertising genius he created the 20 Mule Team Borax campaign. He wrote letters to newspapers and magazines posing as a homemaker who had discovered the virtues of using borax. Mather traces his own important life experiences that made him the best person to be the first park director. Director Mather also traces the history the of first national park, Yellowstone, with tales of Napoleon, Thomas Jefferson, and John Colter. Colter’s description of a place of fire and brimstone was dismissed as mere delirium. Other stories follow: Yosemite and John Muir, the Park to Park highway, the adventure of a Mather mountain party, and the final drive to pass the National Park Service bill, including if needed, diverting an opposing Congressman to the golf course during voting. During his tenure, the park system nearly doubled in size and more Americans visited than ever before. Director Mather tells his story with stunning photographs of the park lands and wildlife he fought to save.

Debating Independence: The American Revolution in 1776
In 1775 most Americans agreed they should remain part of Great Britain. Despite turmoil and bloodshed, the notion of creating a nation out of 13 weak and far-flung colonies seemed a dubious effort. Medical Assistant Capstone
In this course you’ll review and assemble the knowledge and skills gained through the prerequisite courses (Certified Nursing Assistant, Electrocardiogram Technician, and Phlebotomy Technician) and train for working under the supervision of a Practice/Operations Manager or their designee to provide the following duties: scheduling appointments, patient intake and care, routine diagnostic and recording procedures, maintaining medical records, preparing patients for examination, drawing blood, medicine administration, first aid, recording vital signs and medical histories. Coursework will include basic anatomy and physiology; medical terminology; medical law and ethics; patient psychology and communications; medical office procedures; and clinical diagnostic, examination, testing, and treatment procedures. This course prepares you to take the National Healthcareers (NHA) Certified Clinical Medical Assistant (CCMA) certification exam. The cost of this exam is included in your course fee. In this class you will have asynchronous work in addition to the live class on Mondays. Students will be expected to complete assignments, view recorded lecture, participate in discussion boards, and take quizzes online outside of scheduled class lecture time. After successful completion of the course, you will be required to complete a two week 40-hour externship prior to taking your Certified Clinical Medical Assistant (CCMA) exam through National Healthcareers (NHA).

Freight Broker Training
Become part of the exciting trucking, freight logistics, and transportation industries as a licensed freight broker or as a freight broker agent. Freight broker training will help you learn the skills you need to be a successful Freight Broker/Agent. From licensing and operations to sales and marketing, you’ll learn the basics of how to run a domestic freight brokerage or agency in the United States. Freight brokerage is a growing, service-based industry. As a freight agent or broker, you connect shippers and manufacturers with transportation companies and manage those shipments. Entrepreneur magazine has rated the freight brokerage business as one of the top home-based businesses to own, and a Wall Street Journal article cited freight brokering and logistics as the largest growing sector of the transportation industry. Written by freight brokerage specialists, this freight broker course will provide you with the knowledge and resources needed to break into the shipping industry. From transportation law, contracts, and insurance, to setting up and running your own business, this is the best online freight broker training available.

Graphic Design Software Essentials Certificate

The Adobe software tools are the leading software for graphic design. Adobe Illustrator is the industry standard computer illustration software. Use Illustrator to draw shapes and design logos, flyers, posters, banners, business cards, or any other vector graphics for print or web. Adobe InDesign is the industry standard page-layout program that works with Adobe Illustrator and Photoshop seamlessly. InDesign allows you to create simple or complex multi-page documents such as brochures, flyers, books, and magazines. Use Adobe Photoshop to effectively work with selection and editing tools, layers, and masks to edit, retouch, and enhance existing images or create your own composite digital artwork. Access to the Adobe software tools is required.
